

NAVAL PARLEY STANDS ON THRESHOLD OF DEFEAT

POISON LIQUOR BLINDS EMPLOYE AT REYNOLDSWOOD

Russell Jones, Aged 25, In Critical Condition
This Noon

BULLETIN
Early reports indicating that Russell Jones, who was near death as the result of drinking poison alcohol, had obtained the liquor from a young woman acquaintance were dismissed this afternoon and it was expected that the person who sold the liquor would be taken in custody before evening. It was believed that the liquor was obtained from one of the local "speak-easies."

Attending physicians reported some change for the better in Jones' condition this afternoon and anticipated his recovery, although it was said that he might be blind for some time.

Russell Jones, aged 25, of Grand Detour, employed at the Reynoldswood farm, was in a critical condition today, suffering intense agony from presumably drinking poison alcohol, believed to have been given him by a young woman friend Sunday afternoon. He was seized about 7:30 this morning and at noon his convulsions had reached a stage where it required the efforts of eight men to hold him on a bed. Two physicians were making every effort to save his life.

Sheriff Ward Miller in the meantime was attempting to locate the young woman who is reported to have given Jones the half pint bottle of alcohol some time late yesterday. About two ounces of the liquid remained in the bottle when it was turned over to Chief Deputy Fred Richardson, when he was called to the Reynoldswood farm this morning about 10 o'clock. This will be subjected to a chemical analysis to determine the poison content. Reports at the sheriff's office shortly before noon were to the effect that a young woman friend of Jones' had brought the half pint flask of liquor from Kankakee.

Has Lost Sight
Because of the condition of the young man, who had from all indications lost his sight and was unconscious, suffering repeated severe convulsions, the task of gathering information by Sheriff Miller was most difficult. A number of young women, whose names and letters were found among Jones' effects had been questioned by the sheriff, but none could cast any light upon the woman who gave him the bottle of liquor. The liquor remaining in the bottle was clear and had the odor of cheap alcohol.

Attending physicians administered hypodermic injections to relieve the suffering of the young man, but the convulsions continued until noon and were most severe. Members of the police department were summoned to his room at the farm to relieve other employees who had become exhausted in the efforts to hold the young man in his bed.

According to reports reaching Sheriff Miller's office, a young woman called upon Jones some time late yesterday and gave him the half pint bottle of liquor, which she had presumably obtained at Kankakee. Last evening he had offered a fellow employee a drink from the flask and drank some of the liquor himself. This morning, he did not eat breakfast and appeared to be ill. About 7:30 his condition grew serious rapidly and physicians were summoned.

Seattle Pays Honor To Dead Aviators

Seattle, Wash., Mar. 24—(AP)—The body of Carl Ben Eielson today was speeding in a special coach over the Great Northern Railroad for Hattin, N. D., where the famous Arctic pilot will be buried.

In honoring the memory of Eielson and his mechanic, Carl Borland, pioneers of aerial navigation in the north, who were killed November 9 when their plane crashed in Arctic Siberia while they were on a flight from Teller, Alaska, to the icebound fur trading ship Nanuk at North Cape, Seattle citizens yesterday turned out in large numbers. The bodies here from Alaska brought the bodies here from Seward, Long lines of citizens filed past the flag-draped caskets. The bodies were taken to mortuary to lie in state.

Borland's body was conveyed to a mausoleum. From the chapel Eielson's body was borne on a gun carriage to the Great Northern station.

American Potato Bugs Invade France

Bordeaux, France, March 24—(UP)—A couple of potato bugs which, the French claim, must have stowed away in some American doughboy's baggage, have reproduced their kind so successfully that the nation is today threatened with a scourge.

The French Chamber will consider financing a war on the pest, and the Agriculture Department is preparing a country-wide campaign to exterminate them.

The government gets its doughboy theory from the fact that the potato bug can't swim, fly, or be carried on potatoes. But he—and she—have been here since about 1917.

COURT PROCEDURE BEGINS TO AFFECT WOMAN'S NERVES

Indian Woman, On Trial For Murder; Begins To Show Strain

BY HARRY VAN LUNGER.
United Press Staff Correspondent.
Courthouse, Buffalo, N. Y., March 24—(UP)—The slow, careful court procedure of a civilization about which she knows almost nothing began to affect Lila Jimerson's nerves today at the start of the second week of her trial on a charge of killing Mrs. Clothilde Marchand.

The 35-year-old Seneca woman, who all her life has depended on the outlay board and the magic of the Indians for justice, lost her composure for the first time today. Herebefore she has been stoical as counsel struggled to get twelve jurors, but today she sat nervously tapping her feet on the floor and eagerly scanning the face of each talesman.

One juror was excused today in this trial that promises to develop into an exposition of the witchcraft of the Senecas who live up in the hills on the Catteraugus reservation. He was Clarence M. Sloan, juror number 4, who obtained his release after telling the court a relative was critically ill. That left only eight men in the jury box.

Fred A. Ireland of Buffalo was accepted to fill Sloan's seat.
The Jimerson woman is jointly indicted with Mrs. Nancy Bowen, an aged squaw. The state, in demanding the death penalty for Miss Jimerson, contends she was infatuated with Mrs. Marchand's husband, Henri, a waxwork artist for whom she had posed frequently.

The District Attorney will seek to prove that Miss Jimerson began a calculated campaign to inflame the mind of Mrs. Bowen against Mrs. Marchand. Witchcraft, it is charged, played an important part with Miss Jimerson urging the superstitious old squaw to kill Mrs. Marchand. Mrs. Bowen will be tried at the conclusion of the Jimerson case on the specific charge that she beat Mrs. Marchand to death with a hammer purchased in a ten-cent store.

Marchand is in jail as a material witness.

Girls Admits Story Of Bed Fire False

Fairfield, Tex., March 24—(AP)—Named by Miss Wilma Jones, 23, as the man who attempted to burn her to death in a hotel room, Tom Dodd, 30, has been spirited from jail here by Texas Rangers who refuse to announce his whereabouts. The Rangers did not explain the reason for their act.

Dodd attempted to burn her alive when she told him she would inform officers he had received part of the proceeds from a forged check, the young woman said.

After long questioning last night the girl admitted a previous story that she did not recognize her assailant was false. The Rangers said Miss Jones declared G. S. Moore, wealthy Oakwood business man, charged with arson in connection with the case, did not set the fire, and did not have the crime committed.

Miss Jones, bound and gagged, was rescued from the room Wednesday night by the hotel proprietor. She was not burned. The girl, whose home is in Oakwood, was in Fairfield for trial on charges of forging Moore's name to several checks.

After a several day investigation, Dodd, and his mother, Mrs. Sarah Jane Dodd, were arrested and charged with accessories with the girl in the forgery.

The woman was released Saturday on $500 bond.

WAR DEPARTMENT ISSUES PERMIT FOR DREDGING

I. N. U. Co. Expects To Complete Work Here
This Summer

The War Department has issued a permit to the Illinois Northern Utilities Company for the dredging of the Rock River at Dixon, in spite of objections on the part of the city commission. The permit arrived today and gives the power company the permission to dredge a channel in the river 350 feet wide and four feet deep from the Dixon dam westward to a point near the company's steam plant. The plan includes the removal of four islands. The supervision of the work will be in the hands of Assistant Government Engineer C. M. Waters of Sterling.

The city council had passed a resolution demanding that the I. N. U. also dredge a channel 100 feet wide along the north side of the river, but the government permit leaves the entire matter to the discretion of Engineer Waters.

To Do Work This Year.

In an interview with I. N. U. officials today they indicated that they expect to go ahead and get bids on the work and hoped to see the project completed this season, but they also take the position that they are not thought of intention on their part to do anything which will damage the beauty of the stream in any way or cause expense to the city of Dixon.

The War Department believes that the dredging will be of great benefit to the city because of the aid it will extend to navigation and because of the deterrent effect it will have on flood waters and ice gorges. The new channel will allow flood waters to drain away more rapidly and will relieve conditions which many times in past years have caused much damage and inconvenience to parts of the city that lie along the river banks.

Europa Making Good Time On Her Voyage

Aboard S. S. Europa, at sea, Mar. 24—(UP)—End of the third day of sea travel by the giant liner Europa found her 1,934 miles out of Cherbourg, after 68 hours and 12 minutes of sailing against head winds. Her average speed was 27.948 knots an hour, comparing favorably to the Bremen's.

"I am well satisfied with the trip so far," said Commodore Nicolaus Johnsen, commanding the Europa. "The superstitions about the vessel were groundless."

The skipper was commenting on the supposed "jinx" on the Europa because of the disastrous fire that delayed her construction a year.

Central School At Amboy Was Entered

The Central school at Amboy was broken into over the week-end, partly ransacked and some of the equipment stolen. Sheriff Ward Miller was summoned to Amboy this morning to conduct an investigation. Apparently three men broke a window and crawled into the building after which they forced a door leading to the manual training department and ransacked the stock of tools. A plane was reported to be missing. Finger prints were to be taken by an expert today in an effort to locate the marauders.

Income Tax Collection For March Shows Loss

Washington, March 24—(UP)—Income tax collections through March 21 totaled $491,700,896.84, a decrease of $34,388,000 from the corresponding period last year, the Treasury daily statement showed today.

Income tax collections for the day on March 21 were $31,372,280, a decrease of about $44,000,000 from collections of the previous day.

The Treasury books on March 21 showed a paper surplus of $10,889,734 compared with a surplus of $3,438,520 on the same date last year.

Sheriff Called To Quell Harmon Fight

Sheriff Ward Miller and deputies were summoned to Harmon Sunday evening in response to a hurry call when it was reported that Dunton Wood, a resident of the village was intoxicated and firing a shot gun toward a crowd in a street. Wood was found at his home and brought to the county jail while an investigation into a reported drinking and gambling party is being made.

It was reported that Wood, who was a participant in a ten-cent limit game, attempted to draw his knife when an argument started, and that a general fight resulted in which Wood was badly beaten about the head. Several men who were reported to have been present at the drinking and gambling party were ordered to report at the sheriff's office today and a thorough investigation into reports of drinking and gambling was to be launched.

Wood furnished bond this afternoon when arraigned on a charge of disturbing the peace and was released from custody. Sheriff Ward Miller preferred the charge and the case was continued until next Saturday morning at 9 o'clock.

Four Youths Killed In Battle With Cops

Buffalo, March 24—(UP)—As a result of two gun battles with police, four youths were dead today, and one, wounded, had escaped from a hospital.

The dead are Walter Krajewski, 21, identified as the slayer of Patrolman Carl Wunderlich, 32, shot recently while frustrating a holdup; Henry Piotrowski, 20; John Drazdyski, 20; and Edward Domkiewicz, 17.

The fifth man, taken to a hospital unconscious and suffering from a head wound, escaped from the operating table down a fire escape when officers and hospital attaches left the room momentarily.

Krajewski, noticed driving a stolen car, was killed in a running fight.

The second battle occurred when police chased a stolen car bearing four men. A steady fire was exchanged until three of the men were dead and the fourth severely wounded.

Seven Die In Flames Which Destroy Home

New York, Mar. 24—(AP)—Seven persons, six of them members of one family, burned to death as they slept and an eighth, a young son of the family, escaped with severe burns and bruises when the fire enveloped their home in Bayside, Queens, early today.

The dead are Mr. and Mrs. John Fliss; four of their children, three girls and a boy, ranging from four to 17 years, and Charles Jorzon, 43, a boarder.

Stanley Fliss, 14, was burned before he jumped from his bed. He leaped out of a second story window and ran a half mile to the nearest house.

The fire was caused by an overheated furnace. A passing motorist, seeing the flames, drove to the home of the neighbor to whom Stanley later moved by telephone from there. The entire building was in ruins before firemen could bring water to the house.

PLANS COMPLETE FOR NEW SCHOOL AT PRAIRIEVILLE

Modern 2-Room Building
Will Be Erected
At Cost of $7000

Plans prepared finally for the new Prairieville school have been agreed upon by the board of trustees. It is believed they will be approved. The trustees have visited a number of district schools in various parts of the state in order to select features to be incorporated in this one.

The new school will be of the two-room type and will be brick veneer in construction, with full basement, heating plant and all conveniences. It will probably cost $7,000 approximately.

After the plans have been approved the trustees will advertise for bids in order to let the contract as the result of the estimate. This will require 10 days. It is said there is a considerable number of contractors who have made application for the opportunity to bid on this school.

The trustees of the Prairieville school are George Wechsler, J. B. Reaver and Charles Reed.

COLLEGE YOUTH ARRESTED FOR PURSE STEALING

Chester Francis, Former Track Star, Is Held In Jail

Chicago, Mar. 24—(UP)—The bitter plague of remorse hung heavily on the mind of Chester Francis, 29, former track star at the University of Illinois as he sat in a cell in Hyde Park police station today where he was being held on charges of purse snatching.

Francis has been identified by three women as the man who snatched their purses, and according to police, his loot totaled $9.02. His first theft netted him 2 cents, his second, $2 and his final gesture, $7.

Francis' arrest resulted when a witness to his last escapade trailed him to his hotel room, and when police arrived they found a toy pistol, several powder puffs and several other trinkets.

Other than two fraternity insignias which adorned his vest, Francis displayed no other evidence of the college atmosphere which he indicated characterized him while attending the University of Illinois. Francis said he had served as assistant track coach for two years.

In relating his story Francis said he became a bond salesman when he left the University and had earned $5,000 a year. He said he and his wife separated about a year ago when he learned she "became interested in another person." Since then, Francis said, he has "gone down."

He told of being a taxi driver and a waiter, and of returning to the University last summer for postgraduate work in the coaching school. When he returned to the city, Francis said, he was unable to find employment.

Francis said that his mother, who lives in Freeport, asked him not to return to driving taxicabs, as she "thought it was hardly the kind of work a college graduate should be doing."

Wales Near Death As Elephant Charged

Rhino Camp, Uganada, British East Africa, Mar. 24—(AP)—Crashing, lumbering with giant strides toward the Prince of Wales, a great bull elephant was killed by hunters a few days ago when it charged the British heir. The pachyderm stumbled and fell, never to rise again, within 20 yards of His Royal Highness.

The Prince, oblivious to his danger, throughout the charge continued operation of a small motion picture camera he had with him and secured an excellent film, which included the fall of the elephant.

The hunters accompanying him shouted warnings as the elephant, angered at invasion of his retreat, lifted his trunk and trumpeting, started directly for the party. No shots were fired until it was seen that he did not realize his danger. The Prince broke camp here Saturday and started on his safari into the Belgian Congo. He appears the picture of health, and is browned and sunburned.

Kewanee Man Killed When Car Overturned

INJUNCTION TO PROTECT CAPONE FROM OFFICIALS

Federal Court Writ Is Directed Against Florida Officers

Miami, Fla., Mar. 24—(AP)—A Federal court injunction cleared a path through 20 north Florida and East Coast counties today for the approach of Alphonse Capone, Chicago racketeer, to his palm island estate here.

In applying to Judge Halstead L. Ritter for the order prohibiting the sheriffs of the twenty counties from molesting Capone attorneys said the gangster would arrive at his residence today or tomorrow.

Governor Doyle E. Carlton last week issued instructions to each of the sheriffs of the state to arrest Capone and escort him to the state border should he appear in Florida. The Governor declared he had "not a word" to say regarding the injunction.

Capone's son, Albert Francis, 11, and his brothers, John and Albert, are guests at the Capone estate here, attorneys said. The men identified as Capone's brothers are under bond to answer charges in Circuit Court arising from a liquor raid on the island residence last week in which several sacks of whiskey and of champagne were seized.

Chicago, March 24—(UP)—The press of beer business was so heavy today that "Scarface" Al Capone was forced to remain at his mahogany desk instead of departing to his sunlit mansion in Florida as he had intended.

More friends, some of them from Florida, arrived at the gang chief's headquarters in the Lexington Hotel today where Capone has held a long series of "conferences" since he appeared unexpectedly at the detective bureau and ascertained that the police, government and state's attorney were not looking for him.

Whipping together the loose ends of his multi-fold beer, gambling and vice syndicates after an absence of 10 months in a Philadelphia jail, is a matter of several days work Capone has found, so plans for his winter vacation in white flannels and Panama hats in the sun of Miami have been postponed a few days, according to word today from the luxurious hotel suite where the gang chief and his "gorillas" hold forth.

Business As Usual.
Business was transacted much as usual today at the headquarters except that a squad of policemen circled the block and several detectives were posted here and there around the South Michigan Avenue hotel.

Capone has emerged from his suite, which occupies one side of the second floor of the hotel, only once or twice since he retired there Friday, it was learned. Once he went to his southside flat and met his mother and family and another time he took a short walk to "get the lake air". The rest of the time he has remained in the 12-room suite still guarded by his "pistol secretaries."

Occasionally his wife drives in from the flat in her long black limousine to see the husband who spends his wealth so freely for all the modern luxuries of life. Mrs. Capone is a good looking Irish woman, slim, vivacious and ordinarily rather quiet. There are stories, however, that occasionally her Irish temper is aroused and words fly in the Capone household.

Two gangsters, one playing chauffeur and the other "footman," always accompany Mrs. Capone in her drives.

The Capones' two children, Al, Jr., and Ralph, are left at home. Al, Jr., is 14 and a quiet, unassuming boy, mother but Ralph, 12, named for Capone's favorite brother, is pudgy and black-haired like his gangster father.

Demonstration For Doheny Is Planned

Washington, March 24—(UP)—Free of the charge of bribery, Edward L. Doheny, California oil man, rested here today in preparation for a triumphal return to his home.

It was understood a demonstration was planned for him in Los Angeles. A jury in District of Columbia court required little more than an hour Saturday to return a verdict of not guilty in the trial of the man the government claimed gave a $100,000 bribe to former Interior Secretary Albert B. Fall.

The indictment against Doheny had been pending five years and his trial was the last of the series of sensational civil and criminal trials resulting from the Senate investigation of circumstances surrounding the leasing of the Elk Hills, Calif., naval oil reserve field.

Fall, ill at his home in El Paso, Texas, was convicted last fall of a charge of bribing Doheny and now is free pending appeal of his case.

Expect Sinclair To Come To Aid Of Bank

Independence, Kas. Mar. 24—(UP)—Old-time residents of this city, who remember Harry Sinclair, now millionaire oil man, as the youthful drug store clerk who was so obliging, today expected him to furnish funds to reorganize the Commercial National Bank which failed here early this month.

When Sinclair was clerking here the bank was a thriving institution and he was friendly with its president, George T. Guernsey, Sr.

Sinclair notified W. S. Fitzpatrick, chairman of the Prairie Oil & Gas Company, he would aid the reorganization group with finances.

At Independence, Sinclair, wired a deposit of $500,000 to the Citizens National Bank, a rival institution, the day following the failure of the Commercial National. The fund, he explained would add to the strength of the institution should depositors become panicky.

Minor Gangster Was "Taken For A Ride"

Chicago, March 24—(UP)—The murder of a minor hoodlum and the escape of another gangster slaying, today gave police two new mysteries to solve.

The body of a man known as "Jones" and believed to have been a Bone Saltis henchman, was found yesterday a mile from where John "Dingbat" Oberta and Sam Malega, his bodyguard, were murdered two weeks ago.

In the same district a stolen automobile, with a bullet hole through its windshield and a pool of blood beside the front seat, was found abandoned today. Part of a shotgun lay on the floor of the machine, indicating that a gangster had been "taken for a ride" and his body carried away in another car, according to police.

A single pound of the finest spider webs would reach round the world.

HOPE FOR FIVE- POWER PACT HAS BEEN ABANDONED

Great Britain, the United States and Japan
May Reach Terms

BULLETIN

Washington, March 25—(UP)—Two weeks of further negotiation will determine the fate of the London naval conference, in the opinion of acting Secretary of State Cotton, who spent an hour with President Hoover today discussing dispatches from Secretary Stimson.

Cotton would not comment on the conference situation, which is described in news dispatches as almost hopeless insofar as a five power agreement is concerned.

BY LYLE C. WILSON

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, March 24—(UP)—President Hoover's effort to obtain a limitation agreement among the world's five great naval powers stood today upon the threshold of defeat. The five power project could be revived in three ways:

1. By signature of a political security pact in behalf of France.
2. By Italian concessions away from her claim to parity with France.
3. By French acceptance of the Kellogg anti-war pact as an adequate guarantee of security, enabling her to reduce the high figure of her bargaining naval building program.

Secretary of State Stimson's increasingly pessimistic reports from London over a period of nine weeks since the conference began have not yet moved up Mr. Hoover from his policy of silence with respect to London developments beyond a casual intimation a fortnight ago that the administration still was hopeful of the venture.

THE ROSE-BREADED GROS-BEAK

UP where the tree-tops toss and waver
Each emerald crest.
Carols a bird with a rose-red favor
Pound to his breast.

Though the roebuck sleeps and will only awaken
To June's soft word.
Loek! The soul of a rose has taken
The form of a bird.

Of a flower-like bird or a red rose gifted
With song and wings.
Up where the light and the leaves are shifted.
A Grosbeak sings.

Dixon Musicians In Recital At Sterling

The Sterling Gazette of Saturday evening had the following concerning the appearance in that city of two talented Dixon musicians—Miss Eleanor Hennessy and Mrs. Dwight Chapman:

The final musicale of the season was one of the finest and most enjoyable programs heard this year by the Mendelssohn club, on Friday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Van Horne, 508 Fifth Avenue. Preceding the musicale a short business meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. G. A. Phelps, and the announcement was made of the annual dinner meeting to be held on April 22 at 6:30 at the Y. W. C. A. All members of the club are urged to attend this meeting.

Two fine artists brought to the enthusiastic audience a program of delightful numbers. Miss Eleanor Hennessy, violinist, of Dixon, and Miss Dora Andreas, soprano, of Sterling. Miss Hennessy opened the program with "Concerto No. 4" by Mozart, and her second number was "Joachim Cadenza." The pensive and vivacious beauty of her interpretations showed a complete mastery of the instrument. In her second group she played "Air for the G String" by Bach, and "From the Canebrake" by Gardner. For an encore Miss Hennessy played "To a Wild Rose" by McDowell, so decorating this appealing little melody that it radiated winsome charm.

Her last group included "Romance" by Wieniawski, "Romance" by Debussy, and "Vogel A's Prophecy" by Schumann. For an encore she played "Minuet" by Czerny. An intimate sense of musical interpretation characterized her playing which was spontaneous, with quick transitions of moods coming naturally with the music. Mrs. Dwight Chapman of Dixon, accompanied her accompaniments perfectly to the varying themes of the compositions.

Mrs. Dora Andreas made her first appearance in the costume of Italy, and sang a group of Italian songs, including "In Italy" by Jean Boyd, "Funiculi, Funicula," a folk song, and an aria from the old opera, "Mitrane," "Ah, Rendimi," which was sung in Italian. Miss Andreas possesses a voice of unusual warmth and beauty which was well displayed in these numbers.

Miss Andreas next appeared in a Colonial costume and sang a group of old fashioned songs, with exquisite sweetness and expression. She sang, "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia," "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," and "I Will Give You the Keys of Heaven," delighting her audience with the completeness of her characterizations.

Her third group included "My Heart—the Bird of the Wilderness" by Holsman, and an aria from an old opera, "Nadeschda," "My Heart Is Weary," by A. Goring Thomas. One of the thrilling things about Miss Andreas' singing is the marvelous power of tone developed in climaxes, and the softer passages are equally pleasing. Mrs. Roscoe Eades' accompaniments were played with skill and understanding, adding to the enjoyment of the songs. Following the musicale, a social hour was enjoyed with Mr. and Mrs. Van Horne, with Mrs. Emyrn Ludens and Mrs. H. E. Sipes assisting in serving.

Woman's Club Heard Interesting Discourse On Pottery Saturday

The Dixon Woman's Club convened in its regular semi-monthly meeting on Saturday afternoon at the Christian church.

During the business session Mrs. C. D. Anderson, who represented the Woman's Club on the Girl Scout Council, read a most interesting report regarding the work of the Girl Scouts in this city.

The creative education which these young recruits get—believing that real living comes with achievement is most consistent with club women's ideals. It was, indeed, gratifying to learn of the active and constructive work which is being carried on by the Scout leaders, directed by Miss Helen Edwards.

Mrs. O. F. Goeke reminded the members to purchase their tickets for the Garden and Flower Show before next Saturday if they wish to get the reduced club rates.

The president, Mrs. E. H. Prince, then turned the meeting over to Mrs. L. L. McGinnis, chairman of the Art committee who had charge of the program.

Mrs. McGinnis introduced Mrs. Attig of Ashton, who sang a group of songs in a most pleasing manner.

She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. E. M. Goodell.

Musical numbers are always decided assets to the afternoon programs and these greatly enhanced the pleasure of all.

Mrs. I. B. Hoefer of Dixon, who is the District Chairman of Art, was then presented and she in turn explained that the pieces of pottery which were on display were secured through the State Federation.

The history of Pottery which is sent with the exhibit was compiled by the federated women of the 19th District.

Mrs. Hoefer most comprehensively read the record of interesting facts regarding the making of Pottery.

The origin of pottery dates back to primitive man—but, Art expressed in pottery belongs pre-eminently to Cincinnati.

The Rookwood is the most famous in the world and its art is a matter of absolute individual inspiration.

The plant for the Paul Revere pottery is in a house under the shadow of the old North Church where the signal lanterns were hung.

The most popular motif of this pottery depicts Paul Revere galloping on horse back with cape blowing out behind.

The Arequipa (meaning The Place of Peace), pottery is made by girls in the first stage of tuberculosis. A sanatorium where patients pay their own expenses to the unique accomplishment of Dr. Philip Brown.

Many more types of pottery were included in the paper read by Mrs. Hoefer with sympathetic understanding, which, combined with her direct and unassuming manner of delivery gave her audience an afternoon of rare pleasure and keen information.

At the close of the discourse the club members and guests were privileged to examine the specimens which were attractively arranged on fluted-covered tables and to read the cards giving authentic data of each.

An unusual display of Indian pottery from New Mexico and Arizona submitted by Mrs. Carroll Bradford of Dixon, received much favorable comment.

The afternoon was replete by the serving of refreshments by a committee in charge of Mrs. Frank Rob-

TOO MANY 138 PUT CRIMP IN DRAMATIC CLUB'S STYLE

Corning, N. Y. —(AP)—Thirteen members of a local dramatic club of this city believe in the powers of the number "13."

The thirteen players rehearsed for 13 weeks in order to present "What Happened to Jones," on February 13. Then it happened—not to Jones but to the cast of the play.

The leading man's arm was broken; the leading lady developed laryngitis; another player was injured in an automobile accident, and one of the musicians in the orchestra was obliged to be absent because of an accident in which his wife was severely burned.

The play finally was presented on February 24.

COEDS GIVE TEACHERS POINTERS ON SWIMMING

Madison, Wis. —(AP)— Teachers may take their turn at being "dumb" students, too.

"Our students learn at the average rate," says Miss Parkhurst, in the best classroom manner. "Their industry is quite commendable."

Slow Driver Taken By Police: Robber

Chicago, Mar. 24—(AP)— Police in suburban Niles have grown so used to seeing automobiles whiz by that they are now suspicious when one goes slowly.

Yesterday Henry Wheat was driving through at about 10 miles an hour. Police Chief Peter Oszkowski, on the assumption that no one driving that slowly could be out for any good reason, halted him.

The chief's suspicions were strengthened when he found in the car the following articles listed by the constable as burglar tools: jimmy bar, blow torch, heel plate (for opening windows) hack saws, and a pistol.

Wheat was arrested. Then he told the officer the tools belong to his brother, Wyman. So brother Wyman was arrested and charged with attempting to rob a railway station.

People who know us accept our advertising without discounting a single statement made.

We see no reason for telling people that a very low priced bedroom suite is "the most beautiful creation ever offered in the city," when we have plenty of suites right in our own store that excel it.

If it actually is a $200 suite that we offer in a sale at $150, we say so.

A ROAD TO TOMORROW.

The last link of the new motor highway from Laredo, Tex., to Mexico City will be completed sometime this summer; and if you think that item is of interest only to ambitious motor tourists you may have a second guess. It may turn out to be one of the important events of the century, as far as the new world is concerned.

For it symbolizes more than appears on the surface. It marks the beginning of a new epoch, the beginning of something that will be potent for many years to come.

We are fond of talking of the "American empire." This highway if you please, is an out-ride of it.

It opens a new kingdom to the all-conquering automobile; to the automobile, with all the changes it brings. The things that the automobile has done to the United States will be done, presently, to Mexico.

For generations Mexico has been a land apart. The conquistadors who toppled Montezuma off his throne and razed his palaces to make way for the colonial regime of Spain set up a dominion that was static. The tide of events in the rest of the world passed Mexico by. Today's peon lives much as the peon of 1700 lived; and he, in turn, had a life not much unlike the life of a citizen of the Aztec empire.

North of the Rio Grande, however, things went otherwise. Change followed change, so that even the poorest man is born with the desire to live, in some way, better than his forefathers lived. But it was not until the automobile came, shortening distances and leveling mountains and ending isolation, that incessant change became the order of the day.

This never-ending change, this constant wiping out of old barriers, this steady progression toward an indiscernible goal, have not yet reached down into Mexico. But they will move there, once the automobiles start rolling along the new highway to Mexico City. Mexico, in short, will become Americanized.

This may be a good thing and it may not. There may be some question whether rows of filling stations, barbecue stands and tourists' camps will fit in well with the picturesque, old-world culture of Mexico. But it is coming, whether you like it or not. That automobile road, and the future roads that will branch off from it, will remake Mexico from top to bottom.

That is why one can say that the opening of this road is one of the important events of the century. It announces the beginning of a new day.

STAYING AWAY FROM TROUBLE.

Dispatches from Chicago report that while the final steps were taken by which the city government was to get a loan from business men so that it could meet its payroll, considerable number of high city officials were basking in the warm sunlight of a Florida winter resort, keeping in touch with developments at home by wire.

Now voters are notoriously of short memory. But we have a hunch some of Chicago's citizens—especially those who are on the city payroll, and hence had to wait a couple of months for their money—may remember that when the next election rolls around. These officials who chased off to Florida while their government at home floundered around through bankruptcy can hardly be said to have commended themselves to the electorate. It wouldn't be surprising if electorate should hold it against them.

THE ADVENTURES OF A COW.

Solomon was quite wrong. There is always something new under the sun. If you doubt it, consider how a cow at St. Louis was enticed into an airplane, carried high above the earth and there milked, surrounded by pilots, white clouds and limitless space.

The milk, we learn, was put in buckets and tossed out the window—the buckets being attached to parachutes so that they might come down properly.

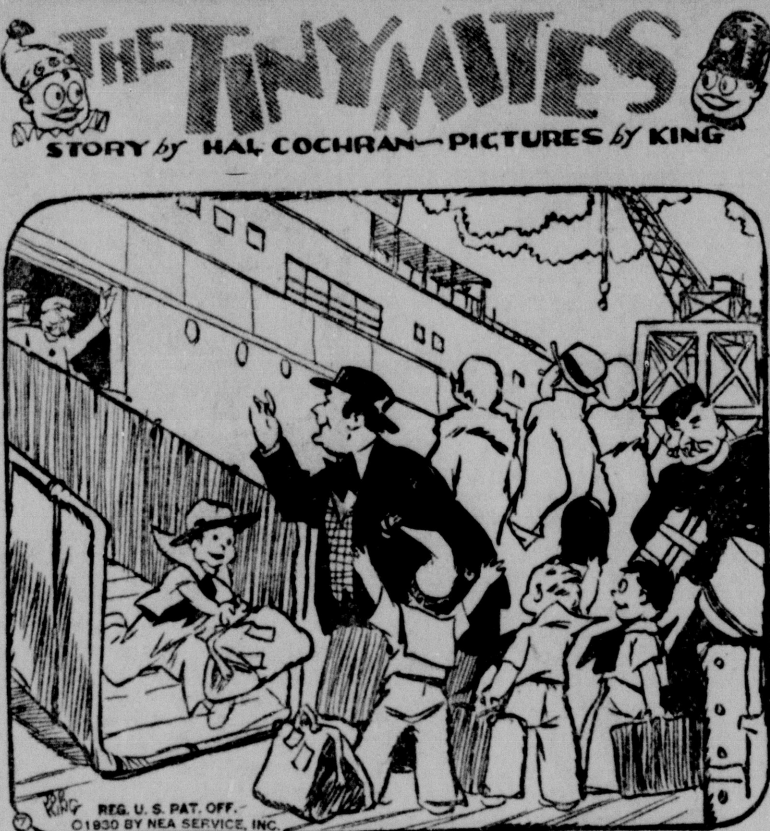

All of this is highly instructive and not a little amusing. But the part that would interest us most of all is precisely the part that we can never find out anything about. It is: what did the cow think of it all? Surely she must have thought something. The cow that jumped over the moon had nothing on her.

People, mostly American, says a news item, pay $10,000,000 a year to see Mont Blanc. Is this regarded as the peak business.

The last day of the ocean trip was passing. My, how time does slip. The Tynmites watched the seagulls and they floated here and there. Said Cappy loudly, "Gee, I wish that we could see one catch a fish. I'd like to watch him carry it away up in the air."

"Don't give up hope. Perhaps you can," replied the friendly Travel Man. "That's what the gulls eat most of. Yes, they love fresh fish real well. Just try to keep your eyes on him. If you can do it, 'twill be fun. It's very picturesque when one dives right into a swell."

For just a moment all was still and then the Tynmites got a thrill. A big gull dove quickly down and skimmed the ocean blue. Before the bunch had time to speak it snatched a fish up in its beak. "Hurrah!" cried Cappy. "That was quite a clever thing to do."

The day passed on and all the bunch took quite a nap right after lunch. All of a sudden they jumped up as Mister Captain cried, "Come on there, boys, pack every grip. We've almost finished this great trip. We're going to land and that, of course, will end the wondrous ride."

So, the boat soon was now right near. Some folks on land began to cheer. The Tynmites looked down on them and waved their hats like wild. "Just think," cried Cappy. "We will land in England. Gee, but this is grand. The thought of traveling 'round like this makes me a happy child."

WILLIAM MORRIS' BIRTH
On March 24, 1834, William Morris, noted English poet, artist, and Socialist, and inventor of the Morris chair, was born in England.

Interested in theology, Morris intended after graduating from Oxford to found a religious brotherhood. But a trip to France threw him so completely under the spell of French Gothic that he decided to become an architect instead.

After trying his hand at architecture and painting, Morris founded a firm for the design and manufacture of artistic furniture. It was here he designed his famous chair. Abandoning this business, he founded at Hammersmith, the famous Kelmscott press, where he printed many beautiful books including his own books of prose and verse. In his classic writings Morris proved himself one of the best story tellers since Chaucer.

In 1885 he became an active Socialist.

PERSONAL HYGIENE
By FREDERICK L. FLYNN, M. D.

(This series of articles is prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial Institute, which is organized to perpetuate the life work of the late Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. Headquarters of the Institute are at 1331 G Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.)

Personal hygiene, shop sanitation and accident prevention are of utmost importance to the industrial worker. Shop sanitation, consisting of proper ventilation, including good air and removal of obnoxious dust and fumes; correct illumination, approved toilet and drinking facilities, and good housekeeping are included in the responsibilities of the employer. Accident prevention is a mutual obligation. Personal hygiene is the responsibility of each individual worker.

Employees should realize the importance of keeping themselves in good physical condition in order that they may lengthen their productive life and bring a continued income to their families. It is not the sensational disease caused by some industrial exposure that is the greatest danger to the workmen. It is the insidious ones, the so-called silent ones that creep upon him—that are the most dangerous. One of the best ways to combat these diseases is to detect them at the very beginning. Every man should insist on his right to a thorough examination at least once a year. The company or family doctor will detect infected tonsils and teeth, sinus trouble, or other toxic conditions.

CUBS DOMINATE SENIOR LEAGUE; PHILLIES THREAT

Wm. Wrigley's Players are Favored To Repeat This Season

BY ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)
New York, March 24—(AP)—The National League, although presenting the prospects of a much better balanced pennant race this season than the American, nevertheless appears likely to be dominated again by the powerful Chicago Cubs. The House of Wrigley is as strong a favorite to repeat its 1929 victory as is the House of Mack in the American League.

The Cubs won the flag last year by a margin of ten and a half games over Pittsburgh and seem to have fortified themselves for a substantial lease on the top. The Bruins, with nothing lacking in their offensive power, have been strengthened as much, if not more, than any team in the league by the acquisition of Lester Bell to play third, the return to form of catcher Gabby Hartnett's arm and the bolstering of the twirling staff with several fine recruits such as Nelson, Moss and Teachout.

Six of the remaining seven National League clubs, however, figure to put up a sensational battle for the first division berth. On the Boston Braves appear definitely slated again for the depths.

Local Man Freed Of Stomach Trouble Through Kavatone

Sterling Man Tells of Obtaining Relief in Amazingly Short Time.

Druggists who have sold medicines for years and people who have taken many different kinds frequently express amazement at the seemingly miraculous manner in which Kavatone conquers ailments that are especially stubborn because of long standing. Not only does Kavatone seem to do the things that are claimed for it, but it does them often in such short time as to be almost unbelievable.

FRANK GEIBEL.

"Gas, which formed in my stomach as the result of bad digestion, caused such pain and pressure around my heart that it caused my heart to flutter and also gave me chest pains," said Frank Geibel, of Woodburn Ave., Sterling, Ill. "I have been bothered with stomach trouble for years, and indigestion has been at the root of most of my suffering. About the only way I was able to keep going at all was to take frequent laxative preparations and naturally since these did not give lasting benefit, their usage was increasing. I was run down and nervous like most similar sufferers and sleep did not seem to renew my energy as it should. Kidney trouble developed and I would get those sharp pains across the small of my back. Upon arising mornings I would be terribly stiff through my back and found it difficult to get around."

"I read about Kavatone and of the marvelous things it was doing for sufferers everywhere. I got some Kavatone and started using it as the Kavatone Man directed. It seemed but a short while before my stomach was in good condition, and I was not troubled with gas pains or my heart did not palpitate after eating. Those sharp pains across my back were greatly reduced and upon rising in the morning I found I was no longer stiff and sore. Kavatone has done wonders for me and I heartily endorse and recommend it for anyone who suffers with any of these ailments."

Kavatone works with nature in ridding the system of poisons and impurities and thus helps put the functioning organs of the body in proper shape to do their work as nature intended they should. Kavatone goes to the very seat and source of those ills and ailments incident to the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels including rheumatism, neuritis, constipation, nervousness and such like ailments.

The Kavatone Man is at the FORD HOPKINS DRUG STORE, Dixon, Ill., where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this much talked of medicine. Everyone is cordially invited to call at the store, meet and get acquainted with the Kavatone Man, and see the famous Kavatone figure which is used in this demonstration. You will be entirely welcome to call whether you buy or not.—Adv.

As Fire Swept New Orleans Docks

This spectacular picture shows vividly the onrush of flames and smoke that added another $1,500,000 fire loss to the history of the port of New Orleans. A fire tug is pouring streams of water on the Esplanade avenue wharf. It was the second disastrous waterfront fire within two days at New Orleans.

the most formidable opposition for the Cubs. The furious Phillies are the real "dark horse" of the race. The New York Giants remain dangerous, in spite of unrest. The St. Louis Cardinals face a fight to withstand the expected rush of the Brooklyn Robins and Cincinnati Reds.

Every team in the league has undergone some shake-ups. Four have new pilots. All have put the accent on a big punch and the league's parks will resound from start to finish with the bombardment of long-range batting guns.

The Cubs had some trouble fighting off the Pirates last year and it may be even more difficult to shake loose from the Bucks again. Injuries and illness have again beset the club in training but there is sufficient all-round strength to make Pittsburgh a contender.

The Phillies collected most of the slugging honors last season. They probably will do so again. Consequently if their pitching is at least 30 per cent better, as Shotton believes it will be, there seems no way to keep the club out of the first division.

The Giants looked like world beaters in training last year and finished a bad third in the race. John McGraw's pupils have been very unimpressive in Texas this spring and so, paradoxically, they may burn up the league.

Manager Dan Howley has rebuilt the Reds, added more batting punch, but needs some pitching support. Uncle Wilbert Robinson freed of the worries of front-office turmoil, seems to have inspired his flock.

Most of the critics fail to share Gabby Street's optimism over the chances of the St. Louis Cardinals being pennant factors. The club dropped from first to fourth last year and has not gained the needed replacements in pitching to check the down-hill momentum.

Local Undertaker Is Member National Soc.

Joseph W. Staples, well known local mortician has recently received national recognition by becoming a member of one of the great national organizations of the profession, the Federated Funeral Directors of America. His membership in this organization develops greater efficiency and a consequent reduction in overhead. One of the important items of overhead under the old system, was the handling of business detail. The funeral director, handling in the course of a year several entries in the average merchant has to make in a single day, has had a serious overhead problem in conducting this phase of his business.

This problem has been solved by the F. F. D. of A. in an amazingly effective way. The Federation has created a department for the handling of these details for its members, concentrating the work at national headquarters, and effecting a considerable saving for the members. This practically plan for reduction of cost is passed on to the public served by the local member.

AMERICA LEADS IN CHILD STUDY, EXPERT CLAIMS

Justin Brierly of Columbia Completes Survey of European Institutions

Denver, Colo.—(UP)—America is more than 20 years ahead of Europe in its application of child psychology, according to Justin Brierly of Columbia University, expert on child psychology. Brierly visited his home here recently after making a study of conditions in orphanages, day nurseries and institutions for dependent children in foreign countries.

Brierly's report, which will be submitted to Columbia University, the League of Nations and the Child Labor bureau of America, included studies made in various institutions in England, Germany, France, Sweden, Italy, Ireland, Scotland and Wales.

While mental or psychology tests are applied to the subnormal child in many institutions in Europe, Brierly said that no mental or emotional tests were given to normal children.

"Such tests are common in our public schools," he said. "We have

LOVE EXPERIMENT ENDS IN SUICIDE OF ONE PRINCIPAL

Woman Returns To Her Husband After 3 Weeks with Lover

Detroit, Mar. 24—(UP)—Reunited with her husband and 18-month-old daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Howe March, living principal in a love experiment, which ended tragically at Miami Beach, Fla., after three weeks' trial, today hid from public gaze.

Mrs. March came back Sunday to her ultra modern husband, Benjamin March, curator of Asiatic art at the Detroit Art Institute. Taking their daughter with them, the pair went into hiding to pick up the raveled ends of their interrupted lives.

Meanwhile at Miami Beach, lies the body of the losing principal in the odd experiment—Thomas A. Newton, married son of a wealthy Detroit packer, who "eloped" with Mrs. March with the consent of her husband.

The experiment began three weeks ago when March, learning of the attachment of his wife for Newton, sanctioned a month's test of their infatuation for each other.

"I know," the curator said, "that any artificial barrier I might put up would be useless."

Freed from the restrictions imposed by convention the enamored couple went to New York, Bermuda, and finally to Florida.

March had agreed to wait one month to receive word of the success or failure of the strange experiment.

Last Friday he was cheered by a message from his wife that she was coming home. A few hours later he was informed that Newton had ended his life in a Miami Beach hotel room.

Laid up five months due to a broken right hand, Marriner started training today for ring engagements next month.

STOMACH UPSET

Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets help arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, people rarely suffer from indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Try Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. All druggists, 15c, 30c and 60c. Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like.

NEWS OF THE CHURCHES

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Matter" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 23.

The Golden Text was, "Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him. And the lust thereof; but he that doeth the will of God abideth forever." (1 John 2:15, 17.)

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit. For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace" (Romans 8:5, 6).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The corporeal senses are the only source of evil or error. . . . Outside the material sense of things, all is harmony" (p. 489).

IMMANUEL LUTHERAN CHURCH

The Little White Church on the Hill, Cor. Highland & Sixth

A. G. Suechting, Pastor

4th Wednesday in Lent

The 4th Lenten service at the Immanuel Lutheran Church, A. G. Suechting, pastor, will be observed Wednesday, Mar. 26th at 7:30. These services have come into prominence through their unusual large attendance. Many are making great efforts to come early in order to insure themselves a good seat. In this year of 1930, the 1900th anniversary of the birth of the Christian Church a spiritual awakening is being hoped and prayed for throughout the length and breadth of the land. It should begin in the various churches. Our little church is, I believe, beginning to realize an awakening such as it has not experienced since the day of its inception. Our Lenten service tends to foster spiritual life in a special way, because the whole service is devoted to the Passion of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ. Wednesday's sermon will be based on the 4th Word from the Cross: My God, My God, why hast Thou forsaken me? Mark 15:34.

Come, and bring a friend.

IMMANUEL LUTHERAN CHURCH, AMBOY

A special service was conducted yesterday afternoon at the Lutheran Church in Amboy by Pastor A. G. Suechting of Dixon. In spite of the inclement weather the church was comfortably filled. Immediately after the service a special meeting was called in which some very important items were discussed and acted upon. First of all, it was decided to call the Reverend A. G. Suechting as pastor to succeed the former pastor, H. J. Fischer, who resigned early this spring. Pastor Suechting accepted the charge gladly. He will of course continue to serve his congregation at Dixon at the usual morning worship hour. Amboy is to have services every Sunday morning at 9:00 A. M. with Sunday School immediately following. Secondly, it was decided to rent the parsonage which is vacant at the present time. Thirdly, a new president of the board was chosen. Wm. Schamberger of Sublette is to succeed the late Mr. Hecker.

The next services are to take place next Sunday at 9:00 A. M. with Sunday School. All members are urged to be on time.

Airplanes Failed To Save Pneumonia Victim

While medical aid was rushing by airplane and automobile to his bedside, D. P. Thompson, director of the Inland Steel Company, Chicago, died of pneumonia at the Roney Plaza Hotel here at 4:20 A. M. today.

Failed by inclement weather in his attempt to fly to the aid of Thompson, Dr. Answel M. Caine noted New Orleans physician, sped across Florida trails in an automobile during the night.

He left Tallahassee by motorcar last night after the plane in which he was carrying his own invention for the administration of oxygen to pneumonia victims had been forced down because of low-hanging clouds which obscured the air lanes between New Orleans and Miami.

A plane piloted by F. C. Merrill of Southern Air Transport, also was formed down at Mobile, Ala. Another plane was reported to have started with a pulmonary expert from Mayo Brothers Clinic, Rochester, Minn.

I will again seek to debase law-makers, judges and police.
Instruction in the effects of alcohol, which led to my undoing, is less vigorous now.
The memory of neglected children is less sharp.
Years of industry have given new wealth to exploit.
Perhaps I can even yet get a foothold.
I will begin in the cities.
While good men sleep, I will get in my work among the poor and the ignorant.
I have learned much of human frailty.
Perhaps by knowledge of human weakness I may again have a place on busy street-corners.
I would come back.

PEORIA MANUAL CHAMPION HIGH SCHOOL CAGERS

Defeated Bloomington To Win Title Saturday Evening

By CLYDE W. JOHNSON Associated Press Writer
Champaign, Ill., Mar. 24.—(AP)—Perched atop the pinnacle that 769 prep teams strove to reach in the 1930 race for the Illinois high school basketball championship, a scrapping quintet from Peoria Manual training high school today formally presented their school with its first state cage crown.
Incidentally, Manual successful bid for the prep title climaxed the great est basketball year ever experienced by the city of Peoria. Bradley Tech won its first undisputed Little Nine-teen title since 1913 during the state season. Peoria Manual won a co-championship of the Big Twelve, and Spaulding Institute of Peoria won the state Catholic high school title and was only eliminated after an overtime battle Saturday night in the semi-final round of the national Catholic tournament.
The 1930 prep tournament was record breaking in more ways than one. A record number of entrants, 769, engaged in the district play, the first round of competition for the state title, and nearly 16,000 people, the largest audience attendance ever recorded, watched the eight sectional winners fight it out for the championship.
C. E. Bowen, University of Illinois ticket manager, today announced that the receipts totaled more than $10,000 and that $9000 of this would be turned over to C. W. Whitten for the Illinois State High School Athletic Association after local expenses, including the official fees, had been paid. Expenses paid by Bowen do not include the various team expenditures.
The 1930 championship race marked the meteoric rise of one man from obscurity to fame in Illinois prep basketball circles. Teller Meade, Manual's coach, took over the Peoria job just before Christmas holidays when Coach Robert Wilford resigned to go into business.
Meade was not a stranger in Illinois, having coached at Decatur high in 1914 and 1915 and at East Aurora in 1916 before he enlisted in the United States Army. After the war, Meade went to Lincoln, Neb., where he served as athletic director and then spent several years at coach at Colorado College and Northern State Teachers College in North Dakota. He left the coaching game for a short time to go into business but was soon back in the coaching ranks.
Meade made several changes in the Manual lineup when he took over the team. He shifted Benson, Manual's guard who played a crack defensive game in the state finals, from center to guard, and put Captain Nev Harris in the pivotal position. That his choice was a wise one was demonstrated Saturday night when Harris got nearly every center jump from Argo of Bloomington and played a great floor game.
Another change was that of adopting the modified zone defense with Bob Clauss, Manual's tireless forward, bothering the opposing forwards as they advanced the ball into the Manual territory. When Clauss grew weary, Meade substituted Shoup, his general utility man, who could pinch hit in any position.
Peoria Manual should make a strong bid for a second consecutive

THE CALL OF THE OUTDOORS

CAMP ETHICS

There are many rules that govern the outdoorsman, and, when in camp with others, it is well to remember some of the things a good camper or follower of the trail should know. Here are a few suggestions that may help to make your days in the open more enjoyable:
1. If your horse will not drink water, don't drink it yourself; trust your horse, but don't trust your dog, for he will drink any filthy water without apparently becoming sick.
2. Keep all your camp tools sharp. A small pocket stone is very handy for touching up knives. An ordinary flat file will put a good edge on your ax.
3. A sewing kit tucked away in a corner of your duffle bag may come in mighty handy. It should contain safety pins, needles, thread, darning cotton, buttons, wax and other such items of necessity.

4. Few people know it, but it is warmer to sleep in a snow drift than on the bare ground. Try it some time and see.
5. To keep ants away from rations, set a box on four sticks standing in tin cans or saucers full of water, and the ants can't get to them.
6. When it is difficult to get water and you become very thirsty, put a small stone or button under your tongue; it will keep your mouth moist. A peppermint in the mouth will make warm water taste cold.
7. If your boots are wet, scrape away some hot dirt or sand from under the fire and fill them with it. They will be dry in the morning.
8. The secret of a successful outing is to see how little you can take along and still be comfortable. What you think you MIGHT need, leave at home.

New York, March 24.—(UP)—The first surprise of the 1930 baseball season is furnished by the lowly Boston Braves.

Regarded as the weakest of major league teams, the Braves today boasted of the best record of any of the sixteen clubs against major league opposition.

The Braves have won eight out of 11 games, including five victories over the New York Yankees and one victory each over the Philadelphia Athletics, St. Louis Cardinals and the Brooklyn Robins. By winning five out of eight games from the Yankees, the Braves clinched the championship of St. Petersburg, training camp of both teams. The Braves and Yankees have one more game to play.

Bill McKechnie, new leader of the Braves, carried south a strange collection of misfits and castoffs which has been whipped into a hard-fighting aggregation. It will be remembered that the Braves started strong last spring, leading the National League for a week or so, but finally collapsed and finished in the cellar.

Four newcomers are making their appearance in the Braves lineup which follows:

Neum, first base.
Richbourg, right field.
Lark, center field.
Moore, third base.
Berger, left field.
Maranville, shortstop.
Rhief, second base.
Sporher, Collins and Cronin, catchers.

Bob Smith, Cantwell, Cooney, Brandt, Jones, Seibold, Cunningham and Leverett, pitchers.
Neum, Moore, Berger and Rhief are making their debuts with the Braves. Neum, who formerly was with the Detroit Tigers, promises to beat George S. Sier out of the first base job.

Moore and Berger, however, are the two sensations in the Braves' lineup. Moore, who led the Texas League in batting last season, came to the Braves as an outfielder, but has been made over into a third baseman. His hitting has been nothing short of spectacular. Berger, the big Los Angeles outfielder, has rounded out the Braves' outfield. Rhief was bought last week from Brooklyn.

The best pitching has been supplied by Johnny Cooney, Ed Brandt and Socks Seibold.

The only three other major league clubs which have won more games than they have lost in inter-league opposition are the Chicago White Sox, Detroit Tigers and Brooklyn Robins.

FORMER LEE CO. MAN KILLED IN FALL DOWN STEPS

Christian Hill, 90, Was the Victim of Tragedy
In Belmont, Ia.

A Belmont, Ia., newspaper of recent date contained the following notice of the death of Christian Hill, a former Lee county citizen and brother of J. S. Hill, 1048 Highland ave.; Mrs. Mary C. Gorton, 1029 Highland ave. and Mrs. Jonas Stultz, 914 Chicago Ave., this city:

Christian Hill, father of A. W. and H. N. Hill, who made his home at the A. W. Hill home was accidentally killed Sunday. He was staying at the S. W. Luick home while Mr. and Mrs. Art Hill were in Rochester. Sunday he opened the cellar door by mistake, fell down stairs and was killed.

Christian Hill, son of Nathan and Judith Hill was born in Luzerne County, Pennsylvania, on the 18th day of November, 1849, and passed away on Sunday afternoon, March 9, 1930 in Belmont, Iowa, aged 89 years, three months and 21 days.

Mr. Hill was always of a bright, optimistic, genial disposition. Always enjoying the best of health, even in his advanced years he was the possessor of unusual strength, both physically and mentally. These gifts he was so richly blessed with made him an unusual character in the community.

Mr. Hill was reared to manhood amid the quiet pursuits of country life. When a lad of about 13 years he left the hills of the Keystone State with his parents, and his home thereafter was in Lee County, Ill., until he was nearly 39 years old. Thence in March 1879, he went to Gage county, Neb., where he homesteaded on a tract of 160 acres. It is written of him, he has labored industriously in the improvement of his property, the comforts and the conveniences which are the legitimate reward of such diligent efforts speak in the highest terms.

Christian Hill was reared to the habits of honesty and industry. At an early age he learned those lessons of self-reliance and economy which have been the secret of his success in later years. When 21 he began the struggle of life on his own account and at the age of 23 established domestic ties of his own by his marriage with one of the most estimable young ladies of Lee County, Ill. This wedding was effected on the 3rd day of September, 1863, at Cairo, Ill. This union was blessed with eight children, seven boys and one daughter. Four of these children survive: H. N. and A. W. Hill of Belmont, John in California, and Elmer in New Sharon, Ia. Frank, Alice Chalmers and George having gone to that better land. One brother in Dixon, Ill., and two sisters of that place one brother in Nebraska, ten grandchildren, and one great grandchild remain to mourn his loss. Grandma Hill journeyed to that undiscovered country on the ninth day of June 1924.

Services were conducted from the A. W. Hill home on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, interment being made in Franklin Grove cemetery, in charge of Rev. J. T. Synder.

DAILY LENTEN THOUGHT

BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of The Congregationalist

When we speak of the values of life it is worth while to ask what is the value of our own.

How can we best estimate that? The real value is, of course, what God sees in us; but we cannot know just what that is. Would not a very practical estimate of ourselves and our activities be found in seeking the answer to the question:

What would the world lose if we were suddenly to die?

Would not many people be startled to discover that in their death the world would not lose very much at all? Someone might mourn for them and some small circle might be affected, but would any good cause or any great endeavor be really worse off, or would the life of any one in the world be morally and spiritually poorer?

When we put the estimate of our lives in that bald and very practical way we ought to see very readily in what life consists. It is the investment of real living and influence that marks the real worth of our lives, and where there is no such moral and spiritual investment life is the mere semblance of living.

It was this, apparently, that the New Testament writer meant when he spoke of certain Christians as "having a name to live," but being in reality dead.

That man is already dead whose death would mean no loss to the community. (Copyright, 1930, NEA Service, Inc.)

HECTIC ANNUM ENDS IN LONDON STOCK MARKET

Hatry Crash and Settlement
Go Down As Epochs
In Exchange History

BY H. L. PERCY
United Press Staff Correspondent
London—(UP)—The massive doors of the London stock exchange building swung slowly to as four o'clock chimed forth from city bells this afternoon.

Top-hatted messengers and tired business men scurried into the gathering twilight, glad that another day of the nerve-racking "bull and bear" business was over.

Another day, but also another year, for when the stock exchange closed this afternoon, its financial year also ended.

Seldom has there been a year so crammed with events for financial men. The Hatry crash, the Wall street crash, the rapid fluctuations in the bank rate, the general poor economic state of the country, to mention but a few, have all contributed to make it a year which will go down memorably in the history of the stock exchange.

The Hatry crash and its sequel the Hatry settlement, were the outstanding events of the year. So extensive were the dealings of the Hatry group, that when the crash came, many speculators, both small and large, were threatened with huge losses, and in some cases, ruin.

It is said that only the prompt action of the stock exchange committee of general purposes averted a panic.

First of all the committee instantly suspended last September all dealings in the Hatry group of shares and deferred settlement in them first for a brief period and then for a protracted period which extended until February.

The committee then appointed an unofficial committee of four prominent members of the "House," which devised a scheme whereby a fund or pool of about $5,000,000 was formed. From this fund all losses were to be provided, and in the various professional interests concerned paid money in fixed proportions.

The Hatry settlement, as it is known, is unique in the history of the exchange. Not even in the panics which followed the South Sea Bubble crash and the Boman frauds at the beginning of this century, was any official action taken to help those who went under.

The effect of the Wall street crash on the London stock exchange was, at anything beneficial, Anglo-American stocks fell somewhat as the American markets slithered down, but other stocks improved, and on the whole the English market did more business during that period than at any other time during the year.

The rapid succession of reductions in the Bank of England rate from 6½ per cent last September to 4½ per cent this February, involving four changes, was primarily designed to facilitate trade. Each drop affected the stock exchange where, so soon as the announcement of the reduction was made known, government bonds and other British stocks immediately hardened. Once again, this was a period of brisk activity on the market.

Tomorrow, with the opening of the new financial year, the prospective candidates put forward their applications for membership in the stock exchange, while retiring members date their resignations from the same time.

At present there are approximately 4,000 members, but a paucity of business "on change" has occasioned a considerable decline in the number of new entrants and a corresponding decline in the price for nomination.

Eight Young People Killed On Crossing

Auburn, N. Y., Mar. 24—(AP)—The bodies of eight victims of a grade crossing crash, four girls and four youths, were in mortuaries here today.

The party rode in a light sedan into the path of a gasoline coach on the Auburn branch of the New York Central Railroad at Shoemaker Crossing near here last night and their bodies were scattered for 300 feet along the tracks.

The coach, traveling down grade at high speed, caught the sedan broadside, hurled it against a house 50 feet away. Twenty-five passengers in the coach were shaken but none was hurt.

Carried by a brisk wind, the flames quickly reached this pier, a wooden structure 500 feet long, which it consumed within a few hours. The flames then followed a layer of oil on the water to the wooden underpinning of pier 15 and spread along 1,000 feet of bulkhead under the steel structure.

FORETOLD HIS DEATH
Brighton, England—At her father's death, Cynthia Gordon told of how he had accurately predicted the day of his death three years before. Her father, Dr. Gordon, had also predicted the start of the World War years before its outbreak and foretold a series of earthquakes, she said.

$4,000,000 Fire On New York Waterfront

Hoboken, N. J., March 24—(AP)—Hoboken's third disastrous waterfront fire in the last 30 years was still burning today, but firemen had under control the flames which destroyed piers 15 and 16 and a large quantity of merchandise. Estimates of the loss varied from $3,500,000 to $4,500,000.

The fire started at 10 o'clock Saturday night in an oil and rag dump 200 feet from pier 18. Carried by a brisk wind, the flames quickly reached this pier, a wooden structure 500 feet long, which it consumed within a few hours. The flames then followed a layer of oil on the water to the wooden underpinning of pier 15 and spread along 1,000 feet of bulkhead under the steel structure.

The fortieth anniversary of the Eiffel Tower, in Paris, the highest building in the world, was celebrated in 1929. Nearly 14,000,000 persons have ascended the tower since its construction.

There are at least four mistakes in the above picture. They may pertain to grammar, history, etiquette, drawing or whatnot. See if you can find them. Then look at the scrambled word below—and unscramble it, by switching the letters around. Grade yourself 20 for each of the mistakes you find, and 20 for the word if you unscramble it. Tomorrow we'll explain the mistake and tell you the word. Then you can see how near a hundred you bat.

Reds Halt Wrecking of Churches

Such scenes as this showing destruction of church property in Russia, will not occur again, unless an overwhelming majority of the population in the church district consents. The Soviet government has declared after worldwide protests against its anti-religious campaign. The above picture, which has just reached the United States, shows the bell from the Church of St. George in Kazan being broken up to be used in manufacturing farm implements.

SPORT BRIEFS

BY UNITED PRESS

Agua Caliente, Mex.—Only a few stragglers remained today at the track where an excited crowd of 25,000 persons watched Victorian cross the line to win the first $100,000 Agua Caliente handicap—world's richest racing event.

The rich handicap was the 12th event and with a field of 14 starting, the total stake was $14,600. Victorian, 5-year-old son of Whiskbroom II, set a new track record for the Agua Caliente course by running the mile and a quarter in two minutes, three and one-fifths seconds.

His victory was worth $108,400 to the Warm stable, including a $5,000 gift to Jockey George Ellis and a similar sum for Victorian's trainer, T. J. Taylor.

Two lengths behind the winner raced Alexander Pantages, entered by the Carrodo stable. Downway, from the Ranocas stable, came in third, and W. C. and E. W. Richter's My Dandy was fourth.

Cleveland, O.—High marks in the doubles event featured yesterday's rolling in the American Bowling Congress, the close of the day finding four new teams among the first ten in the twin event.

Leading the procession, Emil Matlak and Jimmy Mitchell, St. Paul, Minn., topped the pins for a total of 1309 and took the lead in this division.

Murder Backstairs

©1930 by NEA SERVICE INC

by ANNE AUSTIN AUTHOR OF "THE AVENGING PARROT" "THE BLACK PIGEON," ETC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

DORIS MATTHEWS, lady's said, is murdered Friday night in a summerhouse on the Berkeley estate, by a blow with a heavy perfume flask given to MRS. GEORGE BERKELEY by SEYMOUR CROSBY, engaged to CLORINDA BERKELEY. The body, rock-weighted and tied with Clorinda's scarf, is taken from the lake Saturday morning by DETECTIVE DUNDEE, who summons CAPTAIN STRAWN.

UNDER SUSPICION: Mr. and Mrs. George Berkeley, who have quarreled over Clorinda's engagement to Crosby, close friend of the social secretary, MRS. LAMBERT; GIGI BERKELEY, who applauded everyone Friday evening with perfume from murder flask; DICK BERKELEY, who, after having spent the night, as he says, in the lower room vainly awaiting Doris, turns up while his mother is accusing EUGENE ARNOLD, chauffeur, engaged to Doris, of having murdered both Doris and Dick out of jealousy.

Mrs. Berkeley, caught in many lies, is involved by a roused print of Doris's mouth on bathroom mirror, which proves the girl was in Mrs. Berkeley's room and that a struggle took place.

Clorinda Berkeley is forced to admit having been in summerhouse about midnight after crime was committed, which she says accounts for her fame on her dinner sales and blood on her evening cape. Denies witnessing anything knowing how her scarf, dropped to back hall, came to be used to tie up body. Gigi Berkeley starts detectives by saying she saw Doris crying and talking with Crosby, who gave her something. Arnold demands chance to tell detectives something of importance.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXIV

"WHEW! I thought those reporters would tear my uniform off me!" Captain Strawn granted disgustedly, as he let himself into the library, where Dundee and Arnold, the chauffeur, were awaiting him. "Seemed to think I could pull a murderer out of my sleeve, like a magician's rabbit. I told 'em just enough to keep 'em from blackjacking me, and they're hot-footing it for their city rooms now. . . . Well, what have you got on your chest, Arnold? You're been giving a lot of trouble, my boys tell me."

The red-headed young chauffeur, who had been a huddled heap of misery, sprang from his chair and turned with tear-rimmed eyes on the chief of the homicide squad.

"Why didn't you tell me my poor girl was dead—murdered?" he demanded hoarsely. "God knows I had a right to be told first, not kept stewing in agony in that damned sitting room backstairs, wondering what had happened, believing terrible things against her!"

"Well, you know now!" Strawn jerked him up roughly. "What have you got to tell us?"

"That I saw her murderer, sneaking out of these grounds last night!" Arnold shouted, his whole body quivering.

"Wait—a minute!" Strawn ordered sternly. "How do you know he was her murderer? If it was a he—"

"It was a man, all right! Or a beast wearing trousers!" Arnold interrupted violently.

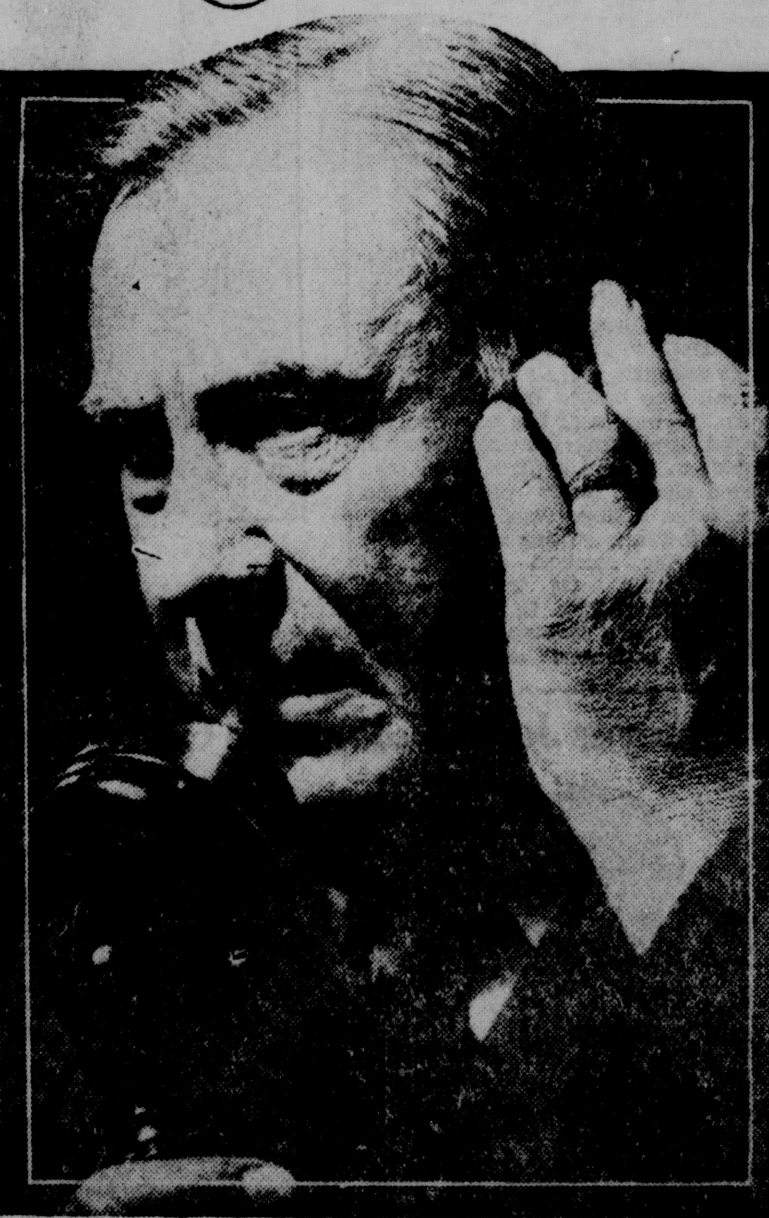

"Keep your shirt on! . . . Now begin at the beginning and tell exactly what you know."

"I had a date to meet Doris at the summerhouse last night," Arnold began jerkily.

"WHEN was this date made?" Dundee interrupted the chauffeur and his own rapid notes.

"While we—all the servants, I mean—were eating our dinner in our own sitting room," Arnold explained impatiently. "Our dinner is from six to half-past, an hour before the family dines."

"Then all of the servants heard you make the date?"

"Big and tall—ran like an athlete, eh?" Strawn repeated.

"Sure! They all knew we were engaged."

"Did she have a key?"

"Yes, because Wickett lent her his. Ordinarily, when any of the servants are out after Wickett has gone to bed, they have to ring the back door bell, which connects with his room. But he—he trusted Doris, and gave her his key."

Strawn and Dundee exchanged glances. No key had been found on the girl's body or in the pocket of her apron.

"All right. Get along with your story," Strawn ordered.

"Well, I'd been told that I wouldn't be needed during the evening, but at about a quarter to 11 the phone in my room rang. It was an extension of the house phone. It was Wickett, saying that the Benjamin Smiths wanted me to drive them home to Westview. I was pretty sore—they're always moaning our car, to save gasoline—and when Wickett told me that he'd heard Dick Berkeley bully Doris into saying she'd meet him—well, I was ready to throw up my job right then, but I thought I'd better stick around as long as Doris was here, to protect her."

And he dropped his head on his arm and sobbed.

"I took time to write Doris a note, when I couldn't reach her on the house phone. I begged her, if she loved me, not to leave the house last night."

"And you gave the note to Wickett, to give to Doris?"

"Yes. When I brought the car around for him to announce, he said Doris had gone up to her room to write to her sister in England. He said he'd give it to her, but she never got it! If she had—Oh, my God!"

"How do you know she didn't get the note?" Strawn pounced.

"Here it is," Arnold answered, his voice dull and flat with grief.

"Della, the upstairs maid, had it all the time."

STRAWN snatched at the note, but before he opened the envelope he asked: "How did Della get hold of it?"

"She says she came down the back stairs at 11 last night to get a piece of fruit out of the ice box—they don't feed us any too heavy in this dump—and as she passed through the back hall she saw my note addressed to Doris lying on the table. She took it up to Doris's room, but Doris wasn't in, and instead of leaving it there for her, Della kept the note—curiosity, I guess, to see what kind of love letter I wrote. I could strangle her!" he added violently.

"One murder's enough for today," Strawn assured him cruelly. "Now, we'll have a look at this letter! . . . Hm. Hm. . . Here, Dundee!"

THE younger detective read it quickly, for it was not long.

"My lovely little darling," it began. "Just a line to tell you I can't keep our date tonight. Have to drive the Smiths home to Westview, damn 'em! Wickett has told me the latest about D. B. For God's sake, and mine, sweetheart, keep out of his way. Don't leave the house tonight on the chance of seeing me when I return from Westview. Go straight to bed, darling, and dream of the red-headed boy who loves you so much he goes crazy sometimes. Gene."

"Get along with your story, Arnold," Strawn commanded curtly.

"You drove the Smiths to Westview."

When did you get back?"

"I didn't drive them to Westview," Arnold corrected him. "When we were passing the Riverside Country Club Mrs. Smith recognized a car that was turning into the club, and hailed it. The folks in the car urged her and Mr. Smith to join them for an hour's dancing, saying they'd drive them home afterwards. So I let them out—"

"The Riverside Country Club?"

Strawn repeated, startled, his eyes suddenly narrowing to slits. "That's only about eight miles from here, isn't it? If I'd known this, young man, you'd have been on the carpet long ago!"

"But I didn't come straight home, see?" Arnold retorted angrily. "I drove out the Hamilton Pike to Sheridan road, parked the car and sat there for half an hour or more."

"Expect me to swallow that?" Strawn grinned. "Twiddling your thumbs and dreaming about getting married, eh?"

"Dreaming about getting married, yes! But instead of twiddling my thumbs I was counting cars, and here's the proof!" The hot-tempered young man drew two soiled envelopes from a breast pocket of his uniform and passed them to the detective. "I made a mark for every car that passed that corner, and if you'll count the fives, you'll see that the total is 146. I've been planning to lease the southeast corner of those two cross-roads, and put up a filling station with my savings. I'd checked passing cars on a Sunday afternoon and on a week day around six o'clock, but I still wasn't satisfied, and wanted to see how heavy night traffic was, before I ventured my money."

"ANYBODY to corroborate this neat little alibi?" Strawn asked.

"I suppose my car was noticed by at least a hundred people, but I don't know who any of them were."

"And what time do you say you got back here, after using your employer's car on private business?"

"About five minutes after 12. I remember looking at the clock on the dashboard when I was held up by a passing freight train just outside of Hamilton. It was 12 straight-up then, and it took me not more than five minutes to reach the gates of Hillcrest. It was when I was turning into our own driveway that I saw the man."

"What did he look like? What was he doing?" Strawn demanded.

"I didn't get a good look at him," Arnold admitted. "When I swung my car in between the gates he was running away from them up the road. My headlights were on him just a second, and I only saw his back, but he ran like an athlete. I'm telling you! I thought at the time he was hurrying to catch the interurban trolley, which had just whistled at the stop about six blocks away from Hillcrest."

"Big and tall—ran like an athlete, eh?" Strawn repeated thoughtfully. He reached for the telephone on the library desk and called police headquarters.

"Round up John Maxwell, Sergeant Turner," he ordered crisply. "Yeah. That Maxwell. He got into town yesterday. . . . Yeah. May! . . . Not yet. . . . Sure! I'll be in at noon." He hung up the receiver and turned again to the chauffeur.

"Now Arnold, come clean!" he snapped. "Why did you kill the girl and let Dick Berkeley get off scot-free?"

ANNUAL CHERRY BLOSSOM FETE POSTPONED

Next Year's Celebration is Expected To Be Brilliant Affair

By R. H. STEWART (United Press Staff Correspondent) Washington—(UP)—The Japanese cherry trees along the banks of the Potomac here, which were presented to the United States by the city of Tokyo, will bloom this spring without the annual cherry blossom festival being held about them. This year's fete was postponed until 1937, partly because the committee in charge of the event could not make final preparations in time and partly because of the serious illness of the late former President, William H. Taft. The trees were presented to this government by the mayor of Tokyo at the time of Taft's presidency, through the President and Mrs. Taft. It had been planned to hold special honors for them during this spring's festival, but his serious illness prevented this program as it was originally planned. In announcing the postponement, Major-General Anton Stephan, chairman of the festival committee, stated that those in charge will immediately begin laying the foundation for the 1937 fete, when it is hoped to hold a larger and more spectacular celebration than ever before. Parades, tableaux and other features of an extensive program for next year will be planned on a gigantic scale, the preliminary plans indicating that the festival will rival the famous Mardi Gras of New Orleans. It is anticipated here that Japan will be unofficially represented at the festival in some manner, in honor of this particular thing which Tokyo and Washington have in common—their cherry blossoms. Some months ago when plans were being discussed for this year's expected fete it was suggested that a number of Japanese girls be brought here for the occasion. This resulted in an immediate flood of protests from American missionaries in Japan, who claimed that "Japanese geisha girls" should not be brought to this country. The uproar against the "geisha girls" was so great that the plan was cancelled before it materialized. Later on, a Tokyo newspaper announced that four young women of representative Japanese families were to be sent to the United States under its supervision as envoys of gratitude for the assistance rendered after the 1922 earthquake in Japan. When this announcement was made it was hoped here that the party would arrive in time for the blossom festival, which has since been postponed. According to word received here, the young women selected to convey to the American people the gratitude of the Japanese people for the earthquake relief are the Misses Kimiko Ashino, Yoshiko Matsudaira, Yoshiko Sato and Sumiko Takada. They were expected to visit San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle, Portland, Chicago, New York, Washington, Philadelphia and Boston.

After Miss Lawton had called the meeting in the hall to order the execution of the program was given to the children and consisted of the following. The president announced a song number by the primary grades which consisted of two songs announced by one of the chorus. The history of Home, Sweet Home was given by Leona Near. Piano Solo, Jean Lenox. Chorus, consisting of two numbers by the intermediate grades. Play, At the Waiting Station. After the program by the pupils, Miss McCune passed a number of cards through the audience requesting all who wished to do so to put down the names of the selection she played, the person getting the most correct to receive a prize. She then played eleven pieces on the piano. Mrs. Jesse Eathingier was the successful contestant, getting eight of the eleven. She received a box of delicious candy. Of the anagrams which followed Mrs. Ed Mensch was the successful contestant and received a handsome cream pitcher.

GAP GROVE

GAP GROVE—Our balmy spring weather of last Sunday took a severe cold Tuesday night when about four inches of snow fell followed by 18 above zero on Wednesday morning. The snow under the genial rays of the sun rapidly disappeared. Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Eathingier since their return from the west are keeping house for Russell Hotchkiss near Prairieville. Mr. and Mrs. George Near and family visited his brother, Vernon Near and family near Lyndon last Sunday. The following farmers have added more power in the way of tractors to their farming equipment. John I. Sheaffer bought the Leo Royer outfit consisting of a 10-20 McCormick-Deering tractor with plow, and disc; B. P. Behrends traded his old 8-16 for a new 10-20 McCormick-Deering; C. J. Swetzer junked his old Fordson and has bought a used tractor of the same kind. Some farmers have begun preparing their ground for small grain by discing the stalks. No small grain has yet been sown in this part of our town. Thursday evening the teachers of the Gap Grove school, Miss Anna Lawton and Miss McCune, the music teacher, gave the people of this vicinity a demonstration of their work by giving a program at the Palmyra town hall. Keyes Joins Felons He Convicted

During his 25 years as district attorney at Los Angeles, Asa Keyes convicted approximately half of San Quentin penitentiary's population of 4000. Today he is their prison mate. Convicted of accepting bribes of $100,000 and failing to adequately prosecute wealthy Californians in an oil fraud case, Keyes is shown above (right) shaking hands with Jailer Clem Peoples as he left the Los Angeles jail to begin his 14-year term.

Although the program was not so long as many to which we have listened, it showed the pupils were getting that which we older one did not get at so young an age—parliamentary training. At the conclusion of the exercises, luncheon consisting of sandwiches, pickles, cake and coffee was served for which a small fee was charged from which a handsome sum was secured which went to the school. Everyone had a very delightful evening. The hall was well filled. The Prairieville Social Circle held their semi-monthly meeting with Mrs. Leroy T. Powers, the attendance consisting of twenty-six members, four guests and five children. Out pictures were given the members to match, those holding the pieces consisting the animal forming a group to guess the names of different kinds of snakes, as what snake steals our breakfast food. There were nine different snakes and only one group guessed all. After this game all partook of the bountiful dinner served cafeteria style. The business meeting followed after which Mrs. Albion M. Seavey who has recently returned from a visit with her sisters in California and Oregon, gave a very interesting narration of her trip. The members are divided into two sides in some contest, the losers to fete the winners. Complete plans have not yet been announced. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Ruth Harms in two weeks.

CAUSE FOR REJOICING!

Excuse our enthusiasm, but we see good cause for rejoicing as the Music Defense League nears the 2,000,000 membership mark after a few short weeks of effort.

And, if that doesn't prove that the American public wants Living Orchestras and Organists in the Theatre, what would?

There is nothing exclusive about this swiftly-growing society. It's inclusive—inclusive of the intelligent citizenry of the New World. And that covers a lot of people, cynics to the contrary notwithstanding. It should, by the way, include YOU.

To become a member in good standing of the Music Defense League one needs only the discriminating taste to know that the art of music is worthy of preservation, and the good sense to want one's money's worth. There are no dues, no obligations.

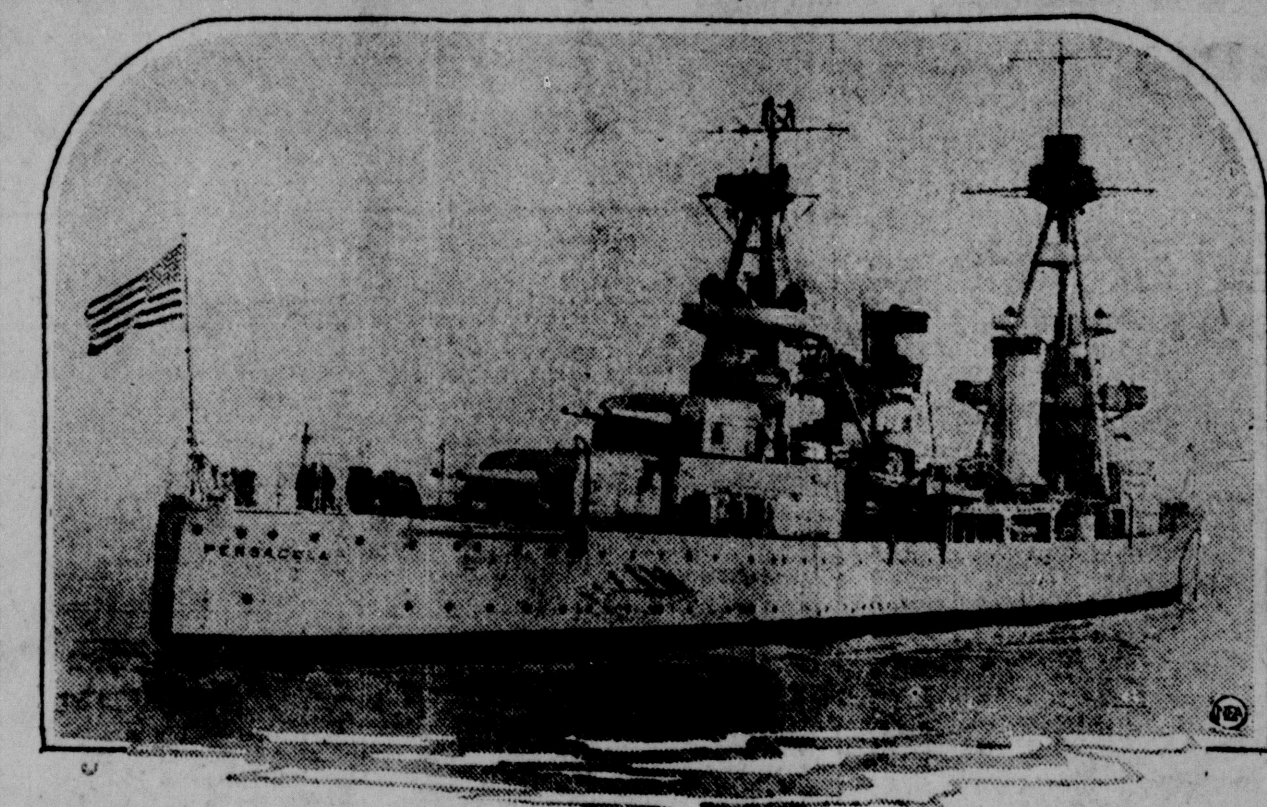

Throughout the world friends of music are alive to the cultural menace of Canned Music in Theatres. Even the governments of England, France, Spain and Italy are considering measures to prevent this artistic debasement.

American music lovers have chosen the popular and democratic course—

CRANIAL "FOOD" ADDED AT OHIO PENITENTIARY

Prison Warden Gathers Brochure Designed to Be "Diverting"

Columbus, O.—(UP)—A new food has been added to the menu of the largest, single tenanted penitentiary in the United States. It is designed to fill cranial and not anatomical space of the prisoners of Ohio State Penitentiary.

The morsel was concocted in the mind of the prison's warden, Preston E. Thomas and has been served to each of the prison's tenants with directions of when and how to partake.

It is a book of bromides, asphorisms, maxims or whatever-you-have-to-elevate-the-spirits. Not an ordinary brochure, a copy has been ordered retained in each prisoner's possession with instructions to digest its contents when hopes recede, mutiny threatens or listlessness overpowers. In short, it contains much of the pithiness of a Polyanna and the wisdom of a Diogenes. "Cheer up," its bright pages exult. "It might be worse. Be thankful that it isn't. Try to better yourself and thereby make the world better."

And: "Do not seek to place the blame on others for your condition but try to find what is wrong with yourself; then correct that wrong."

Several pages over it babbles: "Destructiveness belongs to the brute creation. Practice saving all things of worth about you—and remember to ponder well the saving of yourself—the most precious of all things to you. Abolish any 'get even' spirit you may have in your system. It is a small animal that seeks to destroy you."

Ironical humor is not entirely lacking as this: "If you want to fight, join the army. Fighting will not be tolerated here."

CITY DROPS PLAN TO PAVE STREETS ON SOUTH SIDE

Assessment For Paving On North Side Was Given Approval

Three local improvement projects were quickly disposed of before Judge Leach in the County Court Saturday morning, one being confirmed without objection and two being withdrawn upon motion of City Attorney E. E. Wingert. Local improvement ordinance, No. 254 which provides for the grading and paving with cement of the block from Boyd to Everett street on North Peoria avenue was confirmed in court without a single objection. This completes the series of improvements outlined by the city council for the north side, west of Galena avenue, and it is now expected that the work will be completed by August 1.

On the hearing on local improvement ordinance No. 249, series of 1929, two members of one of the local law firms appeared. Attorney Grover Gehant was the commissioner appointed to spread the assessment and State's Attorney Mark C. Keller represented a long list of objectors. The improvement provided for the paving of Highland avenue from Fifth to Sixth streets and on Fifth street from Highland avenue to Deane avenue or the entrance to Oakwood cemetery. City Attorney Wingert dismissed the hearing without the taking of testimony, on the grounds that the city was not desirous of proceeding with an improvement which was objectionable to the property owners.

Local improvement ordinance, No. 248, which provides for the paving of the alley between Third and Fourth streets and from College to Van Buren avenues was also withdrawn for the same reasons.

Ray Schrock Hurt In Unusual Mishap

Ray Schrock of his city narrowly escaped being killed instantly in an unusual automobile accident at the north limits of Rochelle Friday eve about 8 o'clock as he was on his way home to Dixon. He had made the turn south on the Lincoln Highway at the Rose Garden corners and the car became unmanageable.

The driver could not right the car and it climbed the curbing and crashed into a house. Mr. Schrock was badly cut and bruised about the face and head and was rushed to the office of a Rochelle physician where he was given temporary treatment and was then taken to the Dixon public hospital. Several stitches were
